Thank you for scheduling your well woman exam today.

A "well woman exam" is considered a preventative or wellness visit.

This visit will address preventative health only and is not meant to diagnose or treat problems.

- If your provider addresses and/or treats other health issues at this visit that are new or chronic in nature instead of scheduling you for a follow up or sick visit, your health insurance company may assess an additional patient liability for those services.
- Although most insurance plans include benefits for one preventative health visit, some do not.
- If you have any doubts, please check with your insurance plan.
- If you need further explanation about incurring additional fees for services provided during your visit today, please discuss your concerns with your provider.

- ❖ I acknowledge that I have read this notice prior to being seen and
- ❖ I understand that depending on the issues addressed or treated during today's visit, additional charges may apply that I am responsible to pay.
